LACKING AS HOUSE DEFEATS KEY BILL

Boykin Bill, Passed by House, Is Now Opposed in Senate on Ground It Is Illegal.

CONFUSION REIGNS AS VOTE IS TAKEN

Speaker Says He Has No Power To Force Those Outside Chamber To Vote on Key Bill.

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

Refusal of the house of representaves Tuesday to pass the Key gross ncome tax by the narrow margin of two votes brought the tax situation to a crisis in the legislature and leaves that body where no major tax plan of any kind has been enacted into a law. The only major program approved in the house is the Boykin statutory income tax bill, now pending in the senate, where it faces opposition on the ground that it is unonstitutional.

The Culpepper classification of property tax is a special order for Thursday, but this measure provides more for a shift in the tax burden rather than for additional revenues. Leaders predicted an extra session when the Key bill was defeated.

Much confusion prevailed in the house when the vote was finally taken on the committee substitute for the Key bill, which also contained several provisions of a measure known as the Peterson substitute. On a roll call vote the supporters of the bill mustered 102 while the opponents rolled up 75. Under the rules, a constitutional majority of the house is needed to pass a tax bill, hence 104 votes

The afternoon session was enlivened by the introduction of a resolution citing Representative Stokes, of Twiggs, for contempt. The house tabled the resolution.

For several minutes before the result of the roll call on the Key bill Supporters of the bill congregated in the aisles and appealed to Speaker Russell to use his authority to bring into the chamber all members who had not voted. Explaining that he had Marietta, Ga., August 6 .- Spurred quested the house messenger to round on by the statement of a nine-year- up as many of the absent representaold boy that he saw two men club his citation for contempt of the house.

Sounds ridiculous, but it's true. The long rainy and cold weather in July caused many merchants to cancel their orders in the hands of the makers. That's why The L. H. Manko Co. telegraphed me. "If you come to Philadelphia we will sell you 1.000 men's new summer suits at your own price." I went. They accepted my offer and the suits are here in my entore—one thousand of 'emenough for five stores like Metcalf's to sell at the regular price! "In this situation," Mr. Ottley said, "our first thought naturally was to avail ourselves, if possible, of Mr. Robinson's full time. A director of the Fourth National since 1902, a member of the finance committee since 1907, and a vice president for the past ten years, he not only is a recognized leader in the business and financial life of our city and section, but is already well acquainted with the ideals and policies of the bank. Cinderella and the Three proud cigarette brands

Modern Fable

Once upon a time a Mighty Prince set forth to find a perfect cigarette.

Being very wise, he netted down his search to the four National favorites . . . that quartette of popular sister brands known as the "20 for 15c" family.

The three elder cigarette brands rushed forward to meet the Prince with all the proud pomp in the world . . . each vying with the other in urging her charms upon him. "Smoke me!" said the eldest, "I am the class of the field." "Smoke me!" said the second, "for I am beyond compare."

"Smoke me!" said the third, "all the world acknowledges me to be the best."

Then, from the background, the youngest brand . . . the Cinderella of the family . . . quietly spoke up. "If you please, Sire," she suggested, "why not smoke all four of us . . . and compare us fairly and impartially, letting your taste decide which one of us you like best?"

"Why, that's a common sense idea!" exclaimed His Highness.

Whereupon he covered the names of all four brands with paper masks; lit them and smoked them reflectively, with all brand prejudice removed.

One cigarette seemed to capture his fancy, far and beyond the others. "I don't know which cigarette this is," he declared, "but unquestionably it is the cigarette for me." Whereupon he removed the mask and found it to be ... Well, Cinderella is the "story-book" name but in America today that winning brand is known as OLD GOLD.

MORAL:

It is easy to make big claims, but you can't smoke claims. The only sound way to discover the cigarette you like best is to let your taste decide.

The committee of which Mr. Davis is secretary and treasurer was ap-pointed some time ago by Postmaster General Walter Brown to assist him in selecting desirable and eligible per-sons for appointments to postoffice positions in the state. Since its inception the committee is said to have taken a leadership in the party's poli-tics in the state.

Formal Statement.

In his formal statement Mr. Davis aid he believed that a republican representative in congress from this district would aid in accomplishing much which the district sought to obtain. In this connection he said:

"Finally, my brother disappeared. And we did not hear from him for several weeks. The next word was from Atlanta, to the effect that he had been arrested and was held for burglary. It seems he had wandered away from home and in deep depression had boarded a train and landed in Atlanta penniless and absolutely without friends or anything whatever. Indeed, I believe he was actually in rags and barefooted.

The new Straight Eight is a long, slender, lowswung automobile which is today unapproached in power, in performance, or in luxury of appointment. Besides, it is Pierce-Arrow at its very finest - which perhaps explains why America has been willing to wait for it.

First football casualty of the 1929 season: Joe Westbrook, Georgia Tech's veteran guard, appeared downtown today with a decoration of adhesive tape on his forehead.

"I ran into a door," Joe explained, grinning, "and I'll not only stick to that story, but prove it."

Joe related that he was having an indoor workout with 'Stumpy" Thomason and "Father" Lumpkin Sunday. Joe had baseball park, proved the downthem cornered with a pitcher of ice water in his hands.

The two backfield stars rushed him at once and as Joe turned to flee, he collided with a door jamb.

"And that's no yarn, either," Joe concluded. "If you don't believe it, I'll show you the stitches.

A GRUDGE MATCH.

After all these false alarms, there comes to hand news of a real, grudge golf match.

Dick Garlington put John W. Grant, Jr., out in the semi-finals of the Capital City Country Club championship. And Tooley Walsh eliminated Dave Black.

But neither of the eliminated men was satisfied with the result. Each had an off day, they insisted. They pooled their troubles in the locker room, affected an alliance and challenged Messrs. Garlington and Walsh to a best ball foursome.

The mighty struggle is set for Wednesday or Thursday.

CARDS CHALLENGED.

Once upon a time a great man made a wisecrack to the ffect that crowned heads frequently ached. No sooner does bloke arrive, than snipers open fire from every treetop.

The Inman Park Cardinals, sandlot baseball champions of Georgia in the Legion tournament, realize that now. Their eligibility was challenged by the Lindale team, their victims in the finals at Albany last Friday.

And only vesterday was the matter straightened out and the way cleared for them to make the trip to Meridian, Miss., a week hence to play in the regional tournament.

ANOTHER TOUGH BREAK.

Not all the tough breaks have been experienced by the Crackers this year. The Barons bought Jerry Standeart from Mobile to replace the injured "Stuffy" Stewart at second base.

Standaert was known to have a bruised heel at the time of his purchase, but on arrival in Birmingham it was found that he could play no more this year.

Jerry has gone to his home in Memphis and the Barons continue to play with a makeshift infield.

Injury to Brennan, which will keep him out of the game probably for the rest of the season, practically precludes any chance of a Cracker pennant. The pitching staff was already short of men and the loss of Brennan, one of the aces, will weaken that department considerably.

Brennan was working out in the outfield before the game when he fell. The Nashville park has steep, uneven banks in each of the outfield. It is one of the smallest parks in organized baseball and is a prolific source of home runs in addition to being a menace to life and limb.

ATLANTA SINKS AS VOLUNTEERS TAKE 2 GAMES

Oldham Hits Homer in First; Keifer and Jones Chased From Park.

Nashville, Tenn., August 6. (Special.)—What hopes the Crackers might have had of overtaking the league-leading Barons were given another severe jolt here this afternoon when those Vols turned them back in a double-header, the third in as many days, 3-2 and

It was a bad day for the Goodmen. First thing this afternoon, Don Brennan, Cracker mound ace, fell in the outfield during fielding practice and broke his collar bone. Joe Kiefer, who started the second game, was chased out of the park for protesting a strike decision. Johnny Jones was also expelled from the game for his clowning antics. In all it was a dark day for the Crackers. Atlanta banged itself into the lead in the first game when singles by Lopez, Cullop and Haley accounted for one run in the second inning, Lopez rode home on Haley's one-timer to give the Crackers this run. The Crackers second and last counter came in the eighth inning when Red Oldham, who did the hurling in the opener, smacked a home run over the right field wall. There was no one on and the Crackers were short as the Vols had scored three runs in their sixth.

The Crackers were just not in it in the second game. Roaring Joe Kiefer, who started on the mound for the Crackers, was slammed and slammed until he was banished from the game. He was followed to the hill by Bull Rauch, who sometimes is wild and who sometimes can pitch that baseball. Today he could not pitch so good and those Vols continued their slamming. Tilden's record of winning seventeen Davis Cup matches out of twenty starts in ten years recalls the equally amazing records run up by Walter Hagen and Bobby Jones.

From 1923 into the campaign of 1928 Hagen won twenty-two consecutive matches in the professional golf championships of the P. G. A., against the best professionals in the game.

From 1924 on through the Braeburn test of 1928 Bobby Jones won From 1924 on through the Braeburn test of 1928 Boody Jones would depend on the number of starters at twenty-four out of twenty-five matches in the amateur golf championship of the United States, losing but one battle in five years. Schaumburg's, clerk of the course at Belmont Park and ultra this run by several other victories.

It might be argued that Tilden's record is the more remarkable to date because it covers a ten-year span in a harder physical test, and because each of these matches was against the picked tennis players of the world-Australia, Japan and France being the outside challengers. There was no chance for any easy matches along this route for the Davis Cup. Challengers first had to prove their place by defeating all rivals. It might be observed that in the sixty-seven battles noted above that Tilden, Hagen and Jones have won sixty-two and dropped but five. Jones has picked up only one championship defeat in five years, so far as the amateur title of the United States is concerned. He still has a shot at $100,000. In any event there also lost but one P. G. In any event there will be upward of $24,000 for the second, third and fourth horses at the finish with the customary remembers. golfers as Horton and Mac Smith, Armour, Diegel and other stars to overthrow. Diegel, the present P. G. A. and Canadian champion, will be tough enough for any one to handle. When Leo starts breaking out with a rash of birdies he can break out all over. Horton Smith also can be extremely dangerous when the next P. G. A. swings under way.

In the meanwhile there are two young ladies by the name of Helen Willis and Joyce Wethered who are piling up averages worth your inspection. Neither has been beaten in a championship in so long that surprise inasmuch as the Garden had indicated it would defy the wishes of the commission and attempt to stage the match outside of New York, where Schmeling has suffered suspension and revocation of his boxing of taking a match from Miss Wills license for refusal to go through with this year.

"HOTTEST" MATCH.

Pressing its advantage, the commission shelved the application of Tom McArdle, matchmaker at Madison Square Garden, for a license to stage houts at the Polo grounds, home of the New York Giants. This unexpected move leaves the Garden temporarily without a home for the "hottest". New York match of the outdoor senson, the bout between Kid Chocolate and Al Singer scheduled for August 29.

The battle of these two stars, both with tremendous local followings, promises to draw a gate of close to $2200,000, the richest plum of a solar lean season. The commissioners indicated, however, that 'McArdle will get his license if the Garden "sees the light," and ceases all attempts to stage a Schmeling match this summer.

Covell. All have played in Wightman teams before and all have figured in singles or doubles victories over United States opponents.

There is none in the list on whom England can count for a victory over Miss Wills. If one of them beats Miss Jacobs it will be a most startling upset.

SUGGEST BOUT.

The commission told Carey that his problems could be solved by bringing Sharkey and the retiring light heavy-weight champion. Tommy Loughran, together or pairing Sharkey and Scott in an elimination contest this fall. Under no circumstances, the fathers reiterated, must Schmeling be considered in any heavyweight program until he has fulfilled the Fugazy contract, negotiated for him by the boxer's deposed manager, Arthur Buelow. This Schmeling so far has refused to do.

New York, August 6.—(UN)—It seems like utter folly but the United States is counting the Wightman cup regained, even before the entire personnel of the American team is known.

The optimism of American tennis followers is based on the nomination of Helen Wills and Helen Jacobs to the first and second places on the American team. These two girls, products of the courts of California, are expected to win four matches between them-enough to regain from Great Britain the trophy lost in 1928.

Arrangements to promote the bout at Navin field in Detroit reached such a point that the Michigan state athletic commission recently set the fight date at September 19, after negotiations with the Garden.

Pressing its advantage, the commission shelved the application of Tom McArdle, matchmaker at Madison Square Garden, for a license to stage houts at the Polo grounds, home of the New York Giants. This unexpected move leaves the Garden temporarily without a home for the "hot-" other members of the British of the International rankings.

Civic Council Hears Brilliant Address by Sam Small

"There is no reason why women may not become as proficient in the study of politics, the science of government, as men," stated the Rev. Sam Small in his address to the civic council arranged by Mrs. Harry Greene, formerly Eleanor Raoul, chairman of the citizenship training division, and Mrs. John D. Evans, chairman of citizenship department of the Fifth District G. F. W. C., Tuesday at the Second Baptist church. Mr. Small said that it is not only possible but an imperative duty that they do so.

Mrs. H. G. Hastings, speaking on "A Bill in Legislature," outlined the proceedure of legislation from the presentation of the bill to its completion, stating rules for handling the various types of bills.

Mrs. Wellington Stephenson, chairman of the legislative council of women's organizations of the state, distributed copies of the legislative calendar sponsored by the women's organizations for 1929 and explained each of the bills pending. Mrs. Wellington stated that the time to work for the passage of a bill is months, or even years, before the legislature convenes in order that time and favorable conditions may be had for its study.

'HOME ENSEMBLE' IDEA

LAUDED BY SHOPPERS

Hearty response to the "home ensembles" idea of presenting furniture, floor covering and drapery merchandise to the buying public, now experiencing its inaugural week at Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Company, has been forthcoming from Atlanta shoppers during the first two days of the week, it was reported Tuesday.

"Atlantans have been quick to show their appreciation for the progressive step in merchandising, which puts the once difficult problem of selecting fashionable and harmonizing decora-

step in merchandising, which puts the once difficult problem of selecting fashionable and harmonizing decorations for the home on a par with the selection of milady's wardrobe," Mary Miller, fashionist in charge of the newly combined departments, explained.

Harmonizing Effect.

"Harmonizing effect always has been the decree of fashion, whether it was concerning dress, interior home appointments or other phases of liv-ing." the prominent department store fashionist asserted. However, only with the advent in modern merchan dising of specializing in costume en-sembles has it been possible for wom-an of moderate means to clothe her-

"Now Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose brings this same convenience to the home-making public. From the requirements of the small efficiency-apartment dweller to those of the large mansion owner, there need be no fear of outlandishness in interior home furnishings. The problem of correct ensembles has been worked out beforehand by the fashionist, who enters the wholesale furniture, rug and drapery market with the idea of home ensembles in mind and then assembles these purchases in the correctly or nome themore in mind and then assembles these purchases in the store, complete and convenient to the prospective home-maker. This is the basis of the new idea to which Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose has given over its entire fourth floor." the well-known Atlanta fashionist stated.

They sat down and Colburn disappeared, to return presently with a huge cocktail-shaker. "Now we start the evening, eh? And you must not be afraid of this liquor. I do not make it in the kitchen. No, indeed. You would be surprised if I told you what I paid for this gin. Nothing but the best, eh? When you are with Colburn you get nothing but the best, eh? When you are with Colburn you get nothing but the best."

"I need about six," said Dicksie Vernon.

"I need about six," said Dicksie vernon.

"And pass out cold," said Colburn.
"So much the better."

The man stood before Martha, smilling unctuously. "Another find," he said. "Wait till you see their eyes open at the studio tomorrow. You will see them whistoer in control will see them whistoer in correct to see the property of any star! It's bad business. The boys will see them whistoer in correct to place around but the studio tomorrow. You open at the studio tomorrow. You will see them whisper in corners. Colburn has dug up another star! And in the afternoon we will run off the test so you shall see how you look to the camera. And then the contracts, eh? But you need not be afraid. Colburn will protect your interests. He is a father to all his little girls, eh?"

"But," said Martha, "how do you know I can act?"

"How interesting!" said Martha.

Colburn glowered. "Snap out of it," he said again.

Martha, feeling very conspicuous indeed, made to walk up and down like some slave upon the block, sank into a chair flushed and resentful.

"Are you," she asked of Miss Vernon. "In the pictures?"

"Not very far in," said the girl shortly.

Mortimer Blade moved over to Dicksie's chair and bent over her. "Lay Martha.

"When, I ask again, do we eat?"

asked Miss Vernon.

"About now," said Colburn. "Everything's set, and I sent the Jap out for the evening. Throw a little supper together myself, and maybe you think I can't do it. . . Prefer champagne or Burgundy?"

"I really drink very little," said Martha.

"He disappeared toward the rear of the apartment, and a silence of some awkwardness ensued. It was broken by Miss Vernon.

"What's he up to?" she demanded of Blade.

"Nothing special."

"He acts fishy. I know when he's about me?"

"No."

"He don't need to," she said savagely: "I can tell. A girl can always

"What does one have to do to play the game?" Martha asked with that directness which sometimes made her a very disconcerfing person.

"Eh? What?" Colburn swallowed. "Why, just play the game. You be square with me, and I'll be square with you. You understand, You're a smart girl. It wasn't yesterday you were born."

"Now, now!" cautioned Blade.
"Now, now, what? Don't you want her to hear? She might as well get used to it. It'll be coming to her one of these days. Maybe six months, maybe a year—and then out."

"Don't make a fool of yourself," said Blade.

Suddenly the girl was on her feet, standing before Martha.

"Do you thing you're any prettier than I am?" she demanded.

"Why, why—no," Martha said.
"Any better than I am?" "Perhaps as to manners," said Martha coldly.

"No," said Martha.

He went off on a new tangent, evidently desirous of veering away from the particular phase of the conversation upon which she had engaged him. "There is everything," he said. "The publicity will be a wow. . . We have lots of society girls, if you let them tell it. But you're the real thing. I know your family. I guess maybe I've met your father. I meet a good many society people."

The stock market here received strong support in the first two hours. This with the throwing of funds into the money market by the banks around noon encouraged managers of stock pools to start bidding up their shares, bringing about a recovery in stock prices.

W. Il Street made a note of the fact that trading in the stock market during the first two hours today on declining prices was very much more active than the trading yesterday for the same period on advancing stock prices.

As has been pointed out in this column, trading in local public utility shares at Chicago in recent weeks has been very heavy despite the strained money market conditions there. When the middle west utilities company announced a 10-for-1 split-up of its stock trading in Chicago in public utility shares advanced 330 points, Commonwealth Edison 330, Insull Utilities, allied with the two companies maned, accordingly. Public utility shares on the Chicago market advanced last week from 50 to as much as 96 points.

To Peter Rutherford, 85, a Civil War veteran, desertion is a crime that should be punished even after more than a half century. He declared he was going to pay the penalty even if he had to appeal to the adjutant-general of the United States.

Rutherford first told his story to Sheriff Floyd Brower, and that officer sent him to the commanding officer at Fort George Wright, near here. The aged man reported to the officer and confessed that after serving one enlistment during the Civil War he re-enlisted but deserted two years later.

"My life since then has been one of regrets." Rutherford told the officer. "I have always been ashamed of the thing I did. I am here to pay the penalty."

New York, August 6.—The cottonseed oil market was more active and somewhat easier today, closing unchanged to 6 points lower. Support was limited and under scattered evening-up before the cotton crop report by local operators, prices worked lower. The weakness of grains and the upset state of lard and hogs assisted the reaction. Sales 5,200 barrels. Prime crude lominal; prime aummer yellow spot 9.50; september closed 9.53. Furniture Industry

From a profit standpoint the furni-ture industry has been lagging behind general industry—that is to say, it has failed to keep pace in the march of prosperity. The chief obstacles have been:

1. Overbuilt condition.

2. Competition from other sources, namely automobiles and radios.
3. Tendency to buy less furniture than in former years.
4. Unfavorable spread between raw material prices and furniture prices.
5. Some disorganization incident to the shifting of plants south to great the shifting of plants south to great the shifting of plants south to great the shifting of plants and the shifting of plants and the shifting of plants are the shifting of plants and the shifting of plants are t the shifting of plants south to get closer to raw material supply and a plentiful supply of cheap labor and power.

The recent period of lean profits and the tendency toward mergers will, however, gradually correct the overbuilt condition of the industry. So far as competition from other sources is concerned many of the buyers of automobiles and radios will soon turn again toward furniture. Abatement of "speculative fever" should also result in some good to the furniture industry. In the matter of prices, which play such an important part in determining profits, the current situation and outlook are none too good. Wholesale furniture prices have been declining gradually since 1923, and since June, 1928, have averaged below the all-commodhave averaged below the all-commodity index.

Then again, profits have been adversely affected by the rise in lumber prices since early 1928. In other words the average manufacturer has had to pay more for his materials and receive less for his finished product. If furniture prices can be held near present levels the expected decline in all commodity prices will help the situation materially. Meanwhile a continued shift of activities to the southern states in 1927 accounted for 11.7 per cent of the total number of establishments, against 11.1 per cent in 1925, and current figures would probably show a percentage of 13 per cent

Over the near future the outlook is none too bright. The best results are likely to be seen in the office and store furniture demand, with house-hold furniture, perhaps, holding its own. The current year is almost cer-tain to be another less one from

WHEAT CRACKS

BOND MARKET CONTINU

| Continue |

Associated Press Market Editor.

Chicago, August 6 .- (P) - Unnerved by whirlwind selling that without warning overtook the wheat market today, numberless traders in semipanic let go of wheat wholesale. Prices for wheat suffered an almost perpendicular fall of as much as 7 1-8c a bushel here, compared with yester-day's finish, reaching a level fully 18c under recent current figures. The selling that started the smash of val-ues was generally ascribed to Cana-dian sources.

ues was generally ascribed to Canadian sources.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were feverish, at virtually the day's lowest point, 6c to 7c net lower. Corn closed 1 3-4c to 2c down, oats 1 3-8c to 1 7-8c off, and provisions showing 2c to 10c setback.

Upsetting of confidence on the part of speculative owners of wheat came abruptly after the market here had shown a decided tendency to advance on account of reported big purchases of flour today in the southwest and because of evidence of rapid falling-off in the movement of domestic winter wheat to most of the leading rail-road terminals.

ter wheat to most of the leading railroad terminals.

A tumble of 10c a bushel in wheat prices at Winnipeg added to the force of the selling storm which overwhelmed the Chicago wheat trade. Besides, the selling orders from Winnipeg came at a time when the Chicago market was apparently without much if any of the aggressive buying support that of late had been so conspicuous. Meanwhile, about the only immediate known incentives for the selling were reports of some rains in Canada and rather vague advices that Argentine wheat acreage could be enlarged. Relative leafs. Canada and rather vague advices that Argentine wheat acreage could be enlarged. Relative slackness of export demand for wheat from North America was no doubt also a considerable factor, as well as general knowledge that speculative wheat contracts for future deliveries in the Chicago market have piled up to the unprecedented total of 217,088,000 bushels, an increase of about 12,000,000 bushels in hardly more than a week. All other cereals reflected the weakness of the wheat market. Corn was responsive also to a forceast of moisture much needed in the southwest. Provisions were easier owing to downturns both of hog values and of grain.

Trading during the day was exceedingly light, the market holding a narrow range during the entire day. Private reports had little effect on the market, as they were in line with previous reports.

The market closed steady, practically unchanged from the opening. Tomorrow's market will probably be a repetition of today's, as the market seems evened up for the report with the trade awaiting the government estimate. Liverpool futures are due tomorrow: October 10.08; January 10.06.

New York, August 6.—(P)—Powerful banking interests came to the rescue of a tottering stock market today. Prices reacted sharply during the morning, as heavy selling was spilled into the market by a 12 per cent renewal rate for call loans, the press of the Exphance the morning, as heavy selling was spilled into the market by a 12 per cent renewal rate for call loans, the break on the Chicago Stock Exchange, and a drop in wheat prices, but a sudden influx of funds carried the call money rate to 8 per cent in the afternoon, and prices rallied briskly, redoubled.

The control of the close, the last two properties as heavy sold about a point low-properties was propertied. American Water Works was strong, selling close to its record. Detailed the call money rate to 8 per cent in the afternoon, and prices rallied briskly, redoubled the close to close to close to the close to close to close to close to the close to clos money rate to 8 per cent in the afternoon, and prices rallied briskly, regaining much of their losses.

The break at Chicago was particuLrly disturbing, as the first tremors of a general collapse on the security markets have upon notable occasions in the past been felt on that market.
Also, the high renewal rate for demand loans caused qualms in view of the prospect of a further drain being imposed upon credit by an increase in the Bank of England's discount rate. Considerable nervousness was evident in brokerage house board rooms until confidence was partially restored by the quick action of the banks.

That the sharp drop in call money resulted from action to bolster confidence, rather than a normal easing of credit, was indicated by time money rates, which followed a contrary course, very little money loaning at less than 9 per cent, even for some of the longer maturities. The snug condition of credit was further indicated by the bulletin of the American Acceptance Council, which intimated that higher acceptance rates,

New York, August 6.—(Special.)—To-day's market again gave conclusive evi-dence of its recuperative powers. The coppers, led by Anaconda, forged ahead under impressive volume. Astional Power and Light with its ex-cellent merger prospects continues to at-tract close students of the utility group reported a gain of nearly 10 per cent in July sales, and Mack Truck reported first half earnings equal to $5.17 to per share, against $3.84 in the first half earnings equal to $5.17 to per share, against $3.84 in the first half earnings equal to $5.17 to per share, against $3.84 in the first half earnings equal to $5.17 to per share, against $3.84 in the first half earnings exported, and some consumers, who have been deferring orders in the hope of price reductions, were said to be asking protection against increases.

National Power and Light with 118 ex-cellent merger prospects continues to at-tract close stadents of the utility group who are familiar with its possibilities. Among the "blue ribbon" issues John-Manville appears worthy of market recogni-tion. Quiet accumulation of this security by interests familiar with the rapid prog-ress being made by the company in its many new lines points to renewed interest in the stock.

The utility shares, which made substantial advances yesterday despite the break in the Insull stocks at Chicago, were particularly depressed. North American, Pacific Lighting, Consolidated Gas, Standard Gas & Standard Gas & Standard Gas & Standard Gas & Standard Standar

The snug condition of credit was further indi- cated by the bulletin of the Ameri- can Acceptance Council, which inti- mated that higher acceptance rates, with consequent burden upon com- merce, cannot longer be avoided un- less the federal reserve comes to the support of the bull market. The day's industrial and business news remained largely favorable, in- cluding several more satisfactory earn- ings and sales reports. Woolworth	Pump, and Radio Keith were in good demand. In the reactionary grain markets, wheat broke about 6 cents a bushel in response to a drop of 9 to 11 cents at Winnipeg, heavy receipts and a weak cash market. Corn lost 2 cents or more a bushel on further bearish weather. The cotton market was again quiet, with closing prices steady. Foreign exchanges were inclined to ease, although sterling cables held fairly steady at $4.85 3-16.	34 1 80 2 139 14 6 120 30 1 27 1 342 1 100 1 1 1 207 1 20 1	Otts Steel pri pf Otts Steel pri pf Outet pf Perific Coast Pac Gas & El Pacific Cight Pacific Oil stubs Pacific Tel & Tel Pacific Tel & Tel Pac Tel & Tel Pan Am Petrol Pan Am West B Panhandle Prod & R Parm Fam Lasky Park Utah Mines	46 98 107 30 77 120 1 208 135 58 13

Like with Gloria James. And she was in love with you, too? Gave her the gate on Christmas Eve. A gorilla wouldn't have done that, Sam."

"Shut up—or out you go."
"Out I go, Sam, but not like Gloria arbolic for her, wasn't it? And how Think I don't know all about it?
... And now it's my turn. Well,
I'm no Gloria—and I'm not in love

Colburn advanced a step, all vestiges

Tim no Gloria James . . . Imagine dying for love of you. You pig! You lying, cheating, double-crossing pig."
"Here," intervened Blade, "for heaven's sake, pull yourself together."
"Keep out of this," said Miss Vernon. "This is between Sam and me. The last scene between Sam and me. I haven't anything left. It isn't as if I got anything back." Her voice ifted, became thin and shrill. "When I go out there' we also a substitute of the sub go out there's no place to go. You've advertised me too well, Sam.'

The family won't have me.'
Sudden sympathy for the stirred in Martha's heart; she stirred in Martha's heart; she saw something—not everything of the tragedy—comprehended a little of what the girl was going through. She a retched out her hand to touch Dicksie's arm. "Hush," she said. "Come with me. That will be better..."
"I'm going away," said Dicksie in a reedy voice. "but I'm going alone..., Sam, did you think you could get away with it—with me? Didn't you know me better?"

Colburn mouthed in incoherent rage

"Git. . . Clear out. . . Out."
Then his face changed, became flaccid, dlid. His eyes bulged and his outh opened to emit a cry of fear protest. There were two shots, Martha had been watching Col-face and had not seen Dicksie snatch the revolver from her hand bag. . . Two shots! . . Colburn fumbled for the table, touched it with his fingers, clutched the embroidery which embellished it and pulled it with books and bric-a-brac to the floor. For an instant he stood awaying, then slumped to the table top limply and slid off upon the carpet.

"There," said Dicksie Vernon, and turning abruptly she walked to the front door, opened it, stepped through into the hall and disappeared.

The thing was done! The Vernon rl, who had fired the shots, was one. Colburn lay on his face amid token objects of virtu and, on the rug on this side of the table, the handhag and the revolver which it had concealed. It was unreal, not to be grasped in an instant. . . . Morti-mer Blade stood, clutching the back

And so Tarzan of the Apes, carrying the unconscious American girl, went through the secret tunnel beneath the temple of the Flaming God, without pursuit. When he reached the crest of the great boulder, he halted to cast a backward glance at the city. Coming across the plains he saw a band of the hideous men of Opar, sent out to and broke into a mad run. But by maintaining an easy trot, Tarzan kept the distance between them always the same. Occasionally he would glance at the face so near his own. Had it not been for the faint beating of her heart, he would not have known she was still alive. Thus they reached the barrier cliffs.

Gwinnett County Guard Attacked, Four Convicts Make Break for Liberty

Lawrenceville, Ga., August 6.— Special.)—Assaulting Ralph Cooper, Gwinnett county convict guard, tak-ing his weapon away from him and escaping during a running gun bat-tle, four convicts are at liberty to-night, objects of a wide search by a well-organized posse.

Cooper was working his squad the detour near Buford when the successful break for liberty took place. It was stated that the guard looked around to watch a negro who had become somewhat separated from the squad when Lester Harris, white, leaped upon Cooper's back and wres-

> Commissioners C. L. Harris, W. R.
> Hurst and S. J. Vusha, Sheriff B. F. Griswell and other officers and pri triswell and other officers and private citizens rushed to the scene and organized a large and well-armed posse. Despite the services of several bloodhounds, however, no trace of the convicts was found tonight. It is believed that they are hiding in dense clump of woods in the Buord vicinity.

John Gamble, negro convict, is reported to be a member of the posse scouring this territory for the escaped prisoners. Believed by Benton to have been in possession of some money, Gamble was "held up" by the negro after the guard's gun had been taken from him, but escaped to the
